

African Californios

Join us for an information session on the African Californios project, an interdisciplinary collaboration involving faculty and students in history and computing lead by PI Dr. Cameron Jones (History) and Co-PI Foaad Khosmood (CSSE). The project seeks to explore the lives of early Californians of African descent using data science methods. The project is the recipient of a major National Endowment of Humanities (NEH) grant for 2025.
